

Meghan Rivera

Managing Director, U.S. Market Lead

Meghan leads all commercial activities for Organon in the U.S., including five business units (women's health, fertility, medtech/medical device, biosimilars, established brands) and the supporting market access/account management, commercial operations and business development functions.

Meghan has over 20 years of commercial experience including roles in biopharmaceutical, digital therapeutic organizations and agency partners. She has extensive women's health expertise, having held leadership roles in commercial and general management. Prior to joining Organon, she was Chief Marketing Officer and Head of Commercial at Akili Interactive. She previously worked at AMAG Pharmaceuticals with responsibility for the women's health business unit, and at Boehringer Ingelheim, where she led the team responsible for customer engagement activities.

Meghan has a B.S. in business management from the University of Atlanta as well as a certification in corporate finance and accounting from the Columbia Business School.

About Organon Organon is a global healthcare company formed to focus on improving the health of women throughout their lives. Organon offers more than 60 medicines and products in women's health in addition to a growing biosimilars business and a large franchise of established medicines across a range of therapeutic areas. Organon's existing products produce strong cash flows that support investments in innovation and future growth opportunities in women's health and biosimilars. In addition, Organon is pursuing opportunities to collaborate with biopharmaceutical innovators looking to commercialize their products by leveraging its scale and presence in fast growing international markets.

Organon has a global footprint with significant scale and geographic reach, world-class commercial capabilities, and approximately 10,000 employees with headquarters located in Jersey City, New Jersey.
